This case has gone on long enough and needs to be settled to get the economy going. Nine states settled and the nine states holding out should settle also. Netscape is a sore loser because people like Internet Explorer better. That's competition on which this country thrives. I have both in my computer but like Internet Explorer better. AOL also has no business bringing a new suit against Microsoft. It should be thrown out. I don't like AOL either. If anyone tries to monopolize the internet it's AOL.
